Thank you to those who have been reading and commenting on the first draft of our Institutional Self Evaluation Report. We really appreciate your efforts!

To encourage even more people to review the draft, we're now revealing that we've hidden an "Easter egg.” The "egg" is an intentional "mistake" contained within the draft. The first person to find this deliberate error will be awarded a $15 gift card from Subway.

When you find the “egg,” send an email to leeraccrd@hawaii.edu describing the intentional error and where it is hidden. True mistakes don’t count -- we still want you to report them, but you have to find the one we planted to win the prize.

We hope that the adventure of looking for the "egg" will make your review of the long document a bit more exciting. If you still need the draft or instructions for submitting comments, go to this week’s Campus Bulletin on the Intranet. Comments are due by Wednesday, November 9.

Lastly, as a reward for those of you who have read through this entire message, here are a couple of hints. First, the “egg” does not deal with numbers or any kind of data. In fact, it’s a URL that does not really go to where you're told it goes to. Oops, we might have said too much.

Good luck!
