Progress Report of the AIC on Campus Council
Constituency Roles and Governance

April 11, 2003

1. Summary of the original problem:

In response to a recommendation in the 1994 accreditation report, a representative governance body called the Campus Council was created with its own Charter and By-Laws. All campus constituencies were represented on the Faculty Senate sponsored committee that recommended the establishment of this Campus Council and the Faculty Senate and Administration subsequently gave their approval to the Campus Council.

Per its Charter, the Campus Council “shall function as the recommending and advisory body of the college in matters relating to the priorities of the college.” “Priorities” is defined in the Charter as “establishing preferences, for the direction of the college, especially in regard to budget planning and resource allocation.

The Evaluation Report of the Accrediting Commission for Community and Junior Colleges dated January 19, 2001 commended the college for “organizing the Campus Council” but noted that the college needed to “define the roles of all constituencies in governance.” Also, the report mentions that the role of faculty in governance has been contentious: “Some on the Faculty Senate view their roles as guardian of academic issues to include personnel, budget and planning decisions. This view is in conflict with the representational organization of the Campus Council.”

The Evaluation report made the following recommendations:

1) “The team recommends that the college clearly define the role of all constituencies on the Campus Council. (Standards 10B.8, 10B.9, 10B.10)”

2) “The team recommends that the college develop and implement a written policy which articulates a decision making process which includes persons who will be affected by the decisions and clearly states the role and participation of faculty, support staff, and students on College governing, policy making, planning, staff budgeting and special purpose bodies.”
Applicable Standards

Standard 10B.8 states: "The institution has a written policy which identifies appropriate institutional support for faculty participation in governance and delineates the participation of faculty on appropriate policy, planning, and special purpose bodies."

Standard 10B.9 states: "The institution clearly states and publicizes the role of staff in institutional governance."

Standard 10B.10 states: "The institution clearly states and publicizes the role of students in institutional governance."

2. Present status of the problem:

Both the Faculty Senate and The Campus Council have approved a Shared Governance Policy and a set of Shared Governance Principles. These policy and principles now await approval from the Provost. The policy and principles of shared governance once approved by the Provost will address the visiting team’s main recommendation, namely that Leeward Community College establish a written Shared Governance Policy. The committee also has revised its report on the relationship between the Campus Council Constituencies and the Faculty Senate.

3. Proposal of a solution:

Once the Shared Governance Policy is approved by the Provost, it will be necessary for the college to publicize the policy to insure that all constituencies and decision makers throughout the college know that the policy exists, understand the policy and practice the policy.

Shared governance can only become a reality when individuals both understand the decision-making processes and engage themselves in those processes in a creative, meaningful, and collegial manner. The ultimate success of the policies and principles of shared governance and their beneficial effect on campus morale and indeed campus decision making itself needs to be assessed in a systematic manner.

The college must put in place the resources to assure that the policy is well known and widely practiced.
4. Review of the campus community:

The Committee after a lengthy discussion and review process during the 2002-2003 school year revised the Shared Governance Policy and Principles of Shared Governance and revised the report on the relationship between the Campus Council and the Faculty Senate. On November 27, 2002 the Faculty Senate reviewed and approved of the Shared Governance Policy, the Principles of Shared Governance and the Report on the relationship between the Faculty Senate and the Campus Council. On March 6, 2003 the Campus Council reviewed and approved of the same Shared Governance Policy, Principles of Shared Governance and draft report.

5. Shift from plan to implementation:

During the 2003-2004 school year the committee recommends the college establish a committee or persons in charge of promoting and assessing the Shared Governance Policy. The three key questions that must be addressed are: How does the college promote and practice shared governance? How do we know that? And how could we do it better?

The Shared Governance Policy of Leeward Community College

1. Any individual or group of individuals on campus has the right to provide their views on any issue important to them. The college shall educate the faculty and staff of this right and provide opportunities for faculty and staff to provide input.

2. Administrators shall demonstrate a willingness to incorporate a large amount of faculty and staff input into decision-making especially relating to academic policies, academic procedures, and financial and budgetary matters.

3. Administrators and other decision makers shall provide reasons for decisions that are contrary to the wishes of constituency groups and other recommending bodies.

The Principles of Shared Governance at Leeward Community College

1. The Provost and the administration and all campus constituency leaders and representatives shall adhere to the shared governance policy.

2. The college should provide on-going education regarding the agreed upon shared governance policy.

3. The administration must solicit and consider Faculty Senate input before decisions are made that have a direct impact on the academic policy, the academic curriculum or the academic procedures of the college.

4. A team approach to planning and problem solving should be employed.

5. Committee members and constituency representatives are responsible for keeping the people they represent informed.

6. Committee members on administrative and campus wide committees should be selected or nominated by the groups they represent or at least chosen from lists submitted by elected leaders of those groups.

7. Decision-makers should communicate their actions and decisions with reasons appropriate to those decisions to those directly affected by the decision.

8. The Campus Council and Faculty Senate’s recommendations on budgetary priorities should be given heavy weight in administrative decisions relating to those matters.
General Comments about the meaning of words used in the Shared Governance Policy and the Principles of Shared Governance

I. Definitions:

1. Governance is the act of decision-making.
2. Shared governance is the act of collegial decision-making.
3. Collegial decision-making is the process of enabling constituencies, through consultation, to participate in giving input to affect decisions made at Leeward Community College.

II. Clarifications:

1. Shared Governance does not take away the authority invested in decision-makers to make decisions.
2. Collective Bargaining is a form of shared governance. Unions and Management negotiate to establish working conditions and salaries.
3. Shared Governance dictates that individuals will have an opportunity to participate in decision-making. Individuals may participate by voicing opinions, voting, making recommendations, investigating, writing reports, evaluating leaders, serving as consultants, leading forums, attending forums, serving on senates and councils and committees. This is not an exclusive list.
4. Committees, senates, councils, divisions and constituency groups are a mainstay of shared governance. These groups are empowered by shared governance to make formal recommendations on issues before them.

The Shared Governance Policy and the Principles of Shared Governance were approved by the following:

The Faculty Senate of Leeward Community College on November 27, 2002

By James Goodman, Faculty Senate Chair

The Campus Council of Leeward Community College on March 6, 2003

By Manuel Cabral, Chair of the Campus Council

The Provost of Leeward Community College

Mark Silliman, Provost of Leeward Community College
Report on the Relationship of the Faculty Senate to the Campus Council and a description of Campus Council Constituencies

April 01, 2003

Shared Governance and Shared Leadership Differentiated:
The Faculty Senate and the Campus Council facilitate shared governance not shared leadership. Shared leadership is the act of decision-making and is carried on by those authorized to make decisions. Many leadership decisions are embedded in various positions of authority throughout the college. Shared governance is the process by which leaders and decision makers exchange ideas with those affected by decisions. Through the Campus Council and the Faculty Senate input is provide primarily to the Provost in regards to recommending college policies, priorities and procedures to the Provost. The entire college however is committed to a shared governance policy and all embedded leaders are to consider the policy in their areas of decision-making. This report focuses on the faculty Senate and the Campus Council and the constituencies they serve.

The Faculty Senate Overview:
The Board of Regents chartered the Faculty Senate to be the primary voice of faculty in the academic governance of the college. All faculty with Board of Regent’s appointments are eligible to serve on the Faculty Senate. The faculty elects twenty-one members at large with half of the Senate elected each year. The Faculty Senate also allows two nonvoting guests to participate but not vote at its meetings – one representing Lecturers, who are ineligible to serve on the Senate and another representing students who are also ineligible to serve on the Faculty Senate.

The Faculty Senate is the chief academic policy recommending and advisory body of the Faculty. It remains the primary vehicle for maintaining and developing the curriculum of the college and advising the Provost on academic policies, The Faculty Senate is also charged with conveying to the Provost a unique faculty view on budgetary matters, planning issues, financial expenditures and campus priorities.

The Faculty Senate elects its own leadership and these leaders represent the Faculty on broad based system policy recommending bodies such as the All Campus Faculty Senate Chair, which brings together the many Senate chairs from across the system. In addition to providing its own input to the Provost, Chancellor of Community Colleges, President of the University of Hawaii or Board of Regents of the University of Hawaii, the Faculty Senate is also one of the constituency groups represented on the Campus Council.

The Campus Council Overview:
The Faculty Senate, the administration and all other identifiable campus interest groups established the Campus Council in 1995. The Campus Council is a constituency advisory group whose twenty-one members represent all organized constituencies on campus.
The Campus Council functions as a recommending and advisory body of the college especially in matters relating to the budgetary priorities of the college. The primary purposes of the Campus Council are make recommendations in matters relating to budget planning and resource allocation and to allow for all campus constituencies an opportunity to provide input and report back to their constituencies. Unlike the Faculty Senate, the campus council does not involve itself in matters relating to curricular development or academic policy except insofar as these raise substantial budgetary issues.

The Campus Council members have the responsibility of insuring that the flow of information upon which priority or preference decisions are made includes the input and the feedback of the constituencies they represent. Through the Campus Council all constituencies on campus are given a chance to provide input and have their input passed on to the Provost.

The Campus Council and Faculty Senate Compared:

Membership:
The Faculty Senate has twenty-one members, all of whom are elected at large by the faculty. The Campus Council has twenty-one members; one is drawn at lot from faculty volunteers and twenty represent specific constituencies at Leeward Community College.

Authority:
The Faculty Senate is authorized by the Board of Regents to be the voice of the Faculty at Leeward Community College. The Campus Council is authorized by the Faculty Senate, the Provost and the constituencies of the college to allow all campus constituencies a voice in the governance of the college and especially in budgetary matters relating to the college.

The Joint Executive Committees of the Faculty Senate and the Campus Council:
The Campus Council and Faculty Senate each have an executive committee. The Faculty Senate Executive Committee consists of three people: the Chair, the Vice-Chair and the Secretary. The Campus Council Executive Committee also consists of three people: the Chair and two Vice-Chairs. These two executive committees meet as the Joint Executive Committee to insure better communication between the Campus Council and the Faculty Senate.

Charters and Amendments or Changes of Charters:
The Campus Council and Faculty Senate each have a charter. The Faculty Senate Charter can only be changed with the approval of the Board of Regents. The Campus Council may make changes to its own Charter.
Dissolution:
The Board of Regents may dissolve the Faculty Senate. The Campus Council may be dissolved by a majority vote of its members, a majority vote of the Faculty Senate and finally by approval by the Provost.

Advisory Role:
The Faculty Senate is the voice of the faculty on matters of curriculum, academic policy, budgetary overview and any other issue that it chooses to address. It is the official voice of the Faculty. The Campus Council's is the voice of campus constituencies, including not only faculty but also administration and numerous other constituencies that are listed and described below. The Campus Council is not intended or charged by its Charter to advise on curriculum issues. The Campus Council is charged to provide constituency input on issues before the college and especially on budgetary priorities.

Extent of its Advisory Role:
The Faculty Senate represents Leeward Community College on many matters and issues beyond the campus level. The Campus Council functions only as an advisory body on issues at the college and especially on budgetary matters on campus.

Campus Council Constituencies:
The Campus Council has twenty-one members: ten represent faculty constituency groups, seven represent administration, one represents students, one represents members of the Administrative, Professional and Technical employees, one represents the clerical staff and one represents the academic support personnel.

Administration Representatives on the Campus Council:
1. The Provost – Nonvoting
2. Dean of Instruction
3. Dean of Students
4. Director of Administrative Services
5. Director of the Office of Continuing Education
6. Director of Leeward Community College – Waianae
7. Director of Operations and Maintenance

Student and Staff Representatives on the Campus Council
18. Academic Support Group Designate
19. Administrative, Professional and Technical Designate
20. Clerical Staff Council Designate
21. Student Government Representative

Student Government
The Board of Regents chartered The Associates Students of the University of Hawaii at Leeward Community College (ASUH-LCC) to be the primary voice of students in matters of student interest. All credit students of Leeward Community College are members of ASUH-LCC. Students elect their own leaders, including a President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer as well as a Senate with up to fourteen members. Student Government has one representative on the Campus Council.

The Clerical Staff Council
The Clerical Staff Council has been organized since 1975. It is one of the oldest staff constituency groups on campus. All clerical staff at the college are eligible to join the Clerical Staff Council. The purpose of the Clerical Staff Council is to promote and improve communication and mutual understanding among the clerical staff, faculty, staff, students, administration and the community. The Clerical Staff Council has one member on the Campus Council.

The Administrative, Professional and Technical Group
The members of the Administrative, Professional and Technical (APT) classification established the APT Group in 1994 to provide input and advice on campus priorities and to provide a forum for its members to exchange ideas. The groups objectives are: to exchange information relevant to its members, to address their concerns, to participate in Campus Council deliberations and other decision making committees and to provide an interpersonal networking environment for all APT ‘s. The APT Group is composed of members with unique and diverse skills working in partnership with the campus and the community in a wide variety of roles, such as: lab managers, education specialists, student services specialists, media specialists, theatre personnel, human resources staff and fiscal officers. The APT Group has one member on the Campus Council. During the 2001-2002 school year there were thirty-four members in this group.

The Operations & Maintenance Group
The Operations and Maintenance Staff Development Group has been meeting since Fall 1999 to discuss staff development needs and issues. This group is in the process of transitioning into a formal Operations and Maintenance group. The O & M membership serves the college in a wide variety of roles such as: security workers, maintenance workers, grounds keepers and janitors. The O & M Group has one member on the Campus Council.
The Division Chairs
The seven instructional divisions at Leeward Community College each have a Chair. Each of the chairs serve as both elected leader of the faculty of their division as well as the constituency representative of their respective divisions on the Campus Council. The election and appointment of Division Chairs is one of the clearest examples of successful shared governance at Leeward Community College since it illustrates the delicate interaction of input to administration, i.e., election results, and administrations willingness to listen to and implement that input when the division’s choice is named Chair. The Division Chairs, in addition to teaching some classes, coordinate the teaching assignments, schedules, and workload of the faculty in their respective divisions. The Chairs also oversee the budget, the equipment, and the personnel of their respective divisions.

The Lecturer Group
The Leeward Community College Lecturer Group organized in 1998. Lecturers, also known as adjunct faculty, are teachers who teach on soft money and do not, as do full-time and half time faculty, have Board of Regents appointments. The Lecturer Group is diverse and includes those who teach as few as one section to those who may teach as many as five sections. There are approximately 60 lecturers hired each semester at Leeward Community College. This group is organized to bring concerns germane to lecturers to the attention of the college. They have solved numerous issues over the past few years. The lecturers of the college elect a voting member to the Campus Council and a nonvoting member to the Faculty Senate.

The Academic Support Personnel
The Academic Support staff includes the college staff that work in the Library, in the Media Center, in the Staff Development Office, in the Assessment Office, in the Computer Center, in the Learning Resource Center, in Electronic Repair, in Duplicating Services, in Graphics, in Video Production and in the College’s computer labs. These workers may be classified as Faculty or Administrative, Technical and Professional Staff or Clerical Staff. They are organized under the leadership of the Assistant Dean of Academic Services. Those who are faculty may be elected to serve on the Faculty Senate. Those who are APT’s may join the APT Group. As a group, they have one seat on the Campus Council.

Leeward Community College – Waianae (LCCW)
Leeward Community College operates a branch campus in Waianae. This satellite campus serves approximately four to five hundred students each semester. Its facilities house computer labs, several classrooms, a small library and a learning lab. Due to its unique role as Leeward Community College’s outreach college its director serves as a representative of the Campus Council.
